WEST VIRGINIA BRIEFS

KEYSER: Homer Huffman, 21, smothered to death in a sand pit in the Baltimore and Ohio railroad yards here when the sand caved in upon him.

HUNTINGTON: While a deputy in the circuit clerk's office was recording a decree of divorce separating Mary L. Hall from her husband, Fulton Hall, who strangely disappeared twenty years ago, another deputy in the county clerk's office was issuing a marriage license to her and the Rev. Josiah Marcum, of Johnson Lane, a supernatant minister.

PARKERSBURG: A man without a regular Christian name has turned up in federal district court here. When roll of jurors was called and the name of D. P. Flasher was reached, the clerk asked him what his full name was. He declared that it was "D. P." Judge Dayton then interrupted and asked the juror to give his full name. "What does the 'D. P.' stand for, Mr. Flasher?" he asked. "Indeed, I don't know, your honor," answered the embarrassed juror. "I never was called anything by 'D. P.' You see, I was named after my grandfather and he was never called anything but 'D. P.'"

HUNTINGTON: Mayor Edmund Sehon has struck upon a new employment giving and money making idea. The city is to purchase a paper baler, employ persons seeking work to gather up waste and trash around the city and sell it when baled for remaking into paper products.

GRAFTON: After a long illness W. D. Primm, aged 61, former postmaster of Webster and retired merchant, is dead at his home on Walnut street here.

UNION: Albert Sidney Johnson, son of the editor of the Monroe Watchman, has been designated by Congressman Adam Littlepage as principal and Fitzhugh Donnelly, of Charleston, and Seybert Warren, of Fayette county, as alternates for a cadetship in the United States Military Academy at West Point.

HUNTINGTON: People of Huntington and surrounding territory are so superstitious over the $2 bill, which is held to be a "loner," that they invariably tear off a corner of every one they get which has not already had a corner torn off, according to G. D. Miller, assistant cashier of the First National Bank, who says that a whole $2 is a curiosity in Huntington banks.

CHARLESTON: Max T. Price, of Middlesboro, Ky., has been made secretary of the Kanawha Coal Shippers' Association to succeed Ernest F. Heasley, resigned.

WHEELING: A federation of the insurance agents of West Virginia has just been organized in this city, which includes representatives of companies in all lines of insurance. An executive committee was elected, composed of A. A. Taylor, H. M. Taylor and George C. Crook, of Wheeling, which has the power to add to their numbers men from every large city in the state.

Some time in February another meeting will be held at some other point in the state to elect officers.

LODGE IS FOR CHILD LABOR BILL, HE SAYS

Trusts That Congress Will Pass a Suitable Bill at the Present Session.

(SPECIAL TO THE TELEGRAM)
NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts has just written Owen R. Lovejoy, general secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, that he believes the federal child labor bill should be passed. "I have always taken a deep interest in child labor legislation, as you know," says Senator Lodge, "and I trust it may be possible to secure the passage of a suitable bill by the present Congress. It is needless to say that I shall do all in my power in that direction."

The measure which the National Child Labor Committee supports is the Keating-Owen bill, similar in form to the Palmer bill which passed the House last year. It prohibits interstate commerce in goods in the manufacture of which children have been employed, and has many supporters from all parts of the country. Besides the National Child Labor Committee, the American Federation of Labor, the Federal Council of Churches, and other national organizations have endorsed it. The National Child Labor Committee is carrying on a special campaign in its behalf and urges all interested in child welfare to write their congressmen and senators asking them to vote for the bill. Information in regard to the bill may be obtained from the National Child Labor Committee, 105 East Twenty-second street, New York City.

The census that Holland took early this year gave the country a population of 6,336,670, a gain in 10 years of 438,241.

BIG ATTENDANCE AT GOOD ROADS SCHOOL

Enrollment Will Likely Reach
150 by the End of the Present Week.

MORGANTOWN, Jan. 14.—With sixty-two delegates in attendance at the present writing and more coming in each day, indications point to the enrollment at the third annual good roads school which opened in this city Tuesday, reaching 150 before the week is ended. The sessions are proving extremely interesting and a great deal of valuable information is being obtained by all. Practically every one of the fifty-five counties in the state are represented and the list includes a number of men who are in charge of road construction in various parts of the state in connection with the state road bureau. No phase of road work is being overlooked and every one of the lectures are being followed by general discussions in which all are taking part. One of the most instructive lectures to date was delivered by State Highway Commissioner Shirley of Maryland, on the subject of "The Patrol System of Maintaining Roads." This system is in vogue throughout the state of Maryland and it merely consists of a small army of men who are held directly responsible for the condition of a certain length of road ranging in distance from three to eight miles. The caretaker walks the distance and repairs every hole that appears in the surface of the road and at the same time looks after ditches along the side. He submits reports at stated intervals to the county engineer who keeps a record of every expenditure and item of improvement. The system is being tried out in this state in a district in Ritchie county and it is working to perfection. The road men were guests of the Campus Club of the university Tuesday evening and on Wednesday morning they attended the weekly chapel exercises of the university in a body. Friday will be devoted exclusively to drainage structures while Saturday will be taken up by discussion of bridges. Next Monday will be known as "Machinery day" at which time all road appliances will be demonstrated by representatives of several road concerns who have their product on exhibition here in a large tent. Those who had registered up until today: C. A. Elchberger, Brooke county; W. K. Spaur, Lewis; Chester Swicker, Barbour; E. R. Dyer, Barbour; George W. Steenrod, Ohio; W. J. McLaren, Thurman Myers, Wetzel; J. H. Mitchell, Harrison; John Sims, Fayette; C. G. Janutalo, Fayette; E. W. Grayton, Cumberland, Md.; Harry Clayton, Ohio county; J. R. Morrison, Columbiana, O.; W. DRUNKENNESS

In the Old City of London Only
One Out of One and a Half Million.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—In the area of London known as the "city," which was formerly surrounded by the walls of London and is now the financial center with only a small residential but a large working population, there is only one conviction a day for drunkenness out of one and a half million persons. This statement was made at a meeting of the city council by Sir A. Dower in behalf of the 420 licensed bars contained within these limits. His figures were based on police court records and an estimate of the number of persons working in the city during the day. There are only about 20,000 actual residents. In view of this record of sobriety, the saloonmen asked the council to endorse a petition to the board of liquor control, asking for a relaxation of the present stringent rules. The board may local taxes amounting to $500,000 a year, it was said, and they suffer great hardship under the new rules. The council decided, however, that it was out of its province to endorse the liquor men's petition.
